The study of the Modern Languages, shall be so arranged, as not materially to interfere with the College course.

The officers of instruction, will endeavor to make the course of study as thorough as possible; and in no case will a Scholar be allowed to pass, in an advanced standing, till he shall have passed all the previous examinations, to the satisfaction of the Faculty.

In the Departments of Chemistry and Natural Philosophy, instruction will be given, and Lectures will be delivered, as generators, by the Principals, and the other Professors, until those Classes shall be permanently supplied. Particular attention will be given to exercises in Rhetorick and Oratory; and one forenoon of each week, will be spent, drilling the Students, in a thorough course of Reading and Speaking.

These exercises will be conducted by the Principals; and the Members of the Senior Class, will always be required to declaim pieces of their own composition. The Classification, which takes place at each general Examination, subjects those who are deficient, to the necessity of remaining in a lower grade; while, on the other hand, the hope of reaching a high standing, in a shorter than ordinary period, is held out to all who are ambitious to advance at a more rapid rate, than the usual average of a Class.

A permanent record of the relative standing of the Members in each Class, is kept by the Faculty, and serves as a guide, in awarding the honors of the College. The principal test of the Student's proficiency, will be found in the Lecture Room, where he will undergo an Examination of one hour's duration, for each Lecture and those Members of the higher Classes, who are permitted, under the direction of the Board, to have their rooms set out of College, will be visited by the Principals, and the Professors during their hours of appointment, for their encouragement and aid in the prosecution of their studies. They must not be absent themselves from their rooms, during the hours of study, especially in the evening, except by permission from one of the Faculty; and a close attention will be paid to the merits of the Students, that, if and as they may be called up, and preserved.

THE STUDENTS, are required to attend public worship, in the City, during morning and evening, and Members of the several Classes, will make regular attendance, as well as give an account of their attendance to the Principals.

Persons wishing to sell, will do well to give notice, as we are determined to give full protection to SLAVES; that any slave, who may be hereafter introduced into this State, by any means, in writing, will be immediately arrested, and we can at once be found at William's Hotel, Annapolis.
